

Chapter 13 : File System Interface

Multiple Choice Questions

3. What pointer is used for writing a file?

- A. memory pointer
- B. seek pointer
- C. shared--file pointer
- D. current-file-position pointer

4. With _____ locking, once a process acquires an exclusive lock, the operating system will prevent any other process from accessing the locked file.

- A. temporary
- B. mandatory : access is denied depending on locks held & requested (similar to writer lock) ↗
- C. shared : several processes can acquire concurrently
- D. exclusive : similar to writer lock